

My name is Morgan Fisher. I am presenting a video by Margaret Honda titled Nearly. It's a minute and a few seconds long.

When Thomas Edison was developing his version of motion pictures, he said that one use they could have is to bring back those who have died. Someone recorded on film lives on after death. Margaret had a dog that she dearly loved, and the dog died. While her dog was living, she didn't shoot any video or film of her. What Margaret did do was take lots of photographs.
